FATHER RECOUNTS MOMENTS MIRROR CRUSHED HIS SON

• Austen Harrison, four, and (right) dad Simon Harrison (pictures by INS News Agency)

A FOUR YEAR OLD boy was crushed by a 13-stone freestanding mirror which should have been attached to a wall in a Bicester Village shop a jury ruled yesterday.

Austen Harrison was playing with the three way mirror when it fell on him in Hugo Boss designer store while shopping with dad Simon Harrison on June 4 2013.

During an inquest into Austen's death at Oxfordshire Coroner's Court, Mr Harrison described seeing his son move the wings of the mirror before going into a changing room to try on a suit.

By Mathew Di Salvo
mathew@informnewspapers.co.uk

Moments later he "heard a large bang" and "instantly knew Austen was underneath it".

Austen, from Crawley in West Sussex was rushed to Oxford's John Radcliffe Hospital for an emergency operation – but died four days later from severe head injuries.

A statement by Mr Harrison, read out by Oxfordshire Coroner Darren Salter, added: "I cannot think of any reason why the mirror was not fixed to the wall.

"If it was not fixed to the wall it would be like balancing a very large domino piece."

A jury of seven men and two women ruled yesterday the dangerous mirror should have been fixed to the wall – after hearing evidence throughout the three day inquest at County Hall in New Road.

They said: "Risk assessment should have taken place to ensure the mirror was fixed to the wall based on its fitting instructions. We believe there were health and safety systems in place but we are not confident these systems would have avoided any dangers posed by the mirror.

"In any case these systems appear not to have been followed."

Hugo Boss staff, construction workers and project managers were grilled for answers by Mr Salter and lawyers.

Hugo Boss general area manager Matthew Pink said: "I was never told what my responsibilities were in health and safety."

He added: "Shop construction would have been in charge of making sure it was fitted properly.

"I can recall asking why the mirror was there. I was told the mirror was there because a wall panel was missing."

Mr Salter said: "It was an accident waiting to happen and it is all the more tragic that it was young Austen."

A statement issued by Hugo Boss last night added: "Our team remains extremely saddened by the incident."

Multi-million pound police drug bust jails gang of nine

NINE men have been sentenced to more than 80 years in prison after a police investigation into the supply of millions of pounds worth of drugs in Oxford.

Five of the men were sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on Tuesday in connection with the seizure of 14kg of cocaine and 7kg of heroin – with an street value of £24million.

Yemi Ayegbusi, 36, from Watlington Street in Oxford was jailed for 12 years, while Martin Gray, 32, of Randolph Avenue in Woodstock and David Bowen, 42, of Mumford Drive in Northampton, were each sentenced to eight years.

Shorne Ross, 42, from Mumford Drive in Northampton, was given a six-year sentence while Hakan Razaki, 42 from Aandijk in the Netherlands, was jailed for five years.

On March 10 last year Ross and Bowen were arrested after being pulled over on the M40 when police found 13kg of cocaine and 2kg of heroin in their van.

That day Grey was arrested in High Wycombe and Razaki at the docks in Dover after more drugs and cash were found.

Ayegbusi's home was also searched and drugs and £40,000 in cash were found – he was arrested on March 11.

The remaining four were also sentenced in Oxford on Tuesday for separate offences related to the supply of drugs in the city.

Gavin Preston, 36, from Astrop Lane in Oxford, was sentenced to 12 years in prison for supplying cocaine between August 2013 and February 2014.

Aaron Preston, 34, of the same address as Gavin Preston, was jailed for eight years and Ali Neziri, 32, from Hundred Acres Close in Oxford, jailed for five years on the same charges.

And Ryan Davies, 33, of Kethurne Road in Oxford, was sentenced to 10 years behind bars for supplying cocaine between August 2013 and October 2013.

Grey was also jailed to an additional 10 years in prison for supplying drugs during the same period as Davies, making his total sentence 18 years.

These convictions followed warrants by police on February 27, 2014.

Oxford LPA commander Supt Christian Bunt said: "This was a lengthy and complex operation."

He added: "All of this has led to the successful conviction of these men and the dismantling of their drug supply network across the Oxford area, which should make Oxford and its surroundings a safer place to be."

Body pulled out of river at Osney Lock

THE body of a man was pulled out of the River Thames near Osney Lock in Oxford on Tuesday evening.

Police divers were sent into the river after receiving reports at about 6pm that there was someone in the water.

They managed to recover the man but he was declared dead at the scene.

His death is being treated as unexplained but is not thought to be suspicious.

The discovery came after police received a call the same morning that a watch and bloodstains had been spotted on a bench close to where the body was found.

Eggstra special delivery at Blenheim Palace

THREE YEAR-OLD Esme McCutcheon gave Blenheim Palace's giant chocolate Easter egg her approval when it was delivered last week.

Throughout the Easter weekend the palace's Pleasure Gardens is hosting a Victorian fairground circus and an Easter trail where visitors will be entered into a draw to win the giant egg.

Esme (below) whose dad Doug is the head guide at Blenheim took delivery of the egg with the palace's house manager Kate Ballenger.

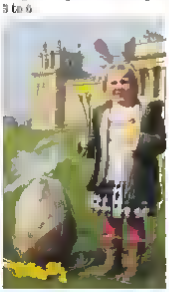
Kate said: "We're very excited about what we have to offer at Blenheim Palace this Easter.

"The Easter egg is truly beautiful and we can't wait to present it to our lucky Easter trail winner on April 6."

The egg was made and delivered to the palace last Wednesday by Oxford patisserie Maison Blanc.

Store manager Oliver Lyon said: "Blenheim Palace is such a beautiful asset to Oxfordshire and we're really proud to contribute to its Easter weekend."

The Eggstravaganza is running at the palace from April 3 to 6.



County's chief executive post will remain after vote

PLANS for Oxfordshire County Council to axe the role of chief executive have been reversed following a vote by councillors on Tuesday.

The council had previously narrowly approved a proposal to scrap the position at their meeting on February 17 and make the current chief executive Joanna Simons (right) redundant.

It had been suggested by council leader Ian Hudspeth as a way of cutting costs.

But concerns were raised by opposition councillors over the legality of the process following the decision, so the matter was brought back before the council during an extraordinary meeting at County Hall.

And after Tuesday's vote, a proposal to reconsider the decision was also refused, meaning that the chief executive post will stay.

Outrage over hospital ready meal proposals

KITCHENS at five hospitals in Oxfordshire could be closed in favour of serving up cost cutting ready meals to patients

Campaigners have slammed proposals to close kitchens at community hospitals in Wallingford Wantage Didcot Witney and Chipping Norton potentially from June

But Oxford Health NHS Foundation Trust has said the cook-chill policy would save money and that preparing food off-site reduces the risk of infection.

Liberal Democrat parliamentary candidate for Didcot and Wantage Alex Meredith and Wantage councillor Jenny Hannaby launched a petition in protest of the plans on Sunday

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Mr Meredith said "All the positive government messaging about healthy choices on food particularly for the most vulnerable, are undermined by this short-sighted step by Oxford Health

"Our hospitals should be promoting healthy eating and increasing awareness of the role that our diet has on our well being.

Closing these kitchens without consultation sends out entirely the wrong message about the importance of freshly cooked healthy food."

The cook chill policy is already in place at the trust's community hospitals in Abingdon Bicester, Oxford and Henley

Oxford Health said "We recognise there may be some resistance to change We believe however that a new unified system needs to be introduced for the benefit of both patients and the trust as a whole"

Cllr Hannaby added "The ramifications of this decision go much further than the quality of food on patients' plates.

"They will also badly affect business for the best local producers who dearly want to sell their food to our hospitals"

Figures from the Campaign for Better Hospital Food say that the decision to close the five hospital kitchens will result in the loss of £3million in economic benefits for Oxfordshire communities through lost jobs and local business

Alex Jackson co-ordinator of the Campaign for Better Hospital Food said. The government must do more to protect hospital kitchens in our communities

"It can do this by requiring that at least some fresh food is prepared for patients in every hospital in the country"

The Trust added "Adopting the same system across the trust guarantees consistency of quality nutritional value and portion size

"Cook-chill meals are already served to most of the trust's patients feedback from recent monthly surveys have seen 90 per cent of patients rating the food as acceptable, good or excellent"

It added that Trust staff are discussing the plans internally until late-May so any changes would not come into effect before then.

Local plan sent off for 14k homes

AN OUTLINE plan for where almost 14 000 houses in the Vale of White Horse are to be built by 2031 has been submitted to government for final approval

The district council sent off its local plan last Wednesday to be independently examined by a planning inspector

It details proposed sites for where 13 960 houses can be built in the district, as well as the infrastructure community facilities and green spaces needed to support the growth in population

The local plan itself contains significant challenges, but it will also help to guide and control development in the Vale for the next 16 years – said council leader Matthew Barber

"Over recent years we have seen the problems that have been caused by the lack of a local plan, now is the time to regain control of our future

In the local plan the council has also set out proposals to introduce a Community Infrastructure Levy meaning developers contribute funds towards roads, schools, public transport and community facilities – as a different system to the current

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

S106 agreement

The council has also overhauled its design guide in a bid to ensure that developments are in keeping with their surroundings

Mike Murray, cabinet member for planning policy at the council, said, "This is an important moment for the Vale

"Once we have this plan in place, we will regain control of deciding planning applications in the district rather than being at the mercy of developers appealing to the planning inspector after we've rejected their applications

"It has been a long road to get here, but we believe we've created a good plan that will help the Vale grow in a positive way, creating strong communities whilst minimising the disruption for those who already live here."

The planning inspector is expected to give a verdict on the local plan in the summer at which point it will either be put into place or returned to the council for alterations

Famous faces open £80m library revamp

By Adam Flinn
adam@rutlernewspapers.co.uk

THEY have opened our eyes to discoveries on Earth and beyond

So it was perfectly fitting that Sir David Attenborough and Professor Stephen Hawking were the guests of honour at the opening of an Oxford University library's £80million revamp and new 'Marks of Genius' exhibition.

The pair were in Oxford for the launch of the newly renovated Weston Library in Broad Street on Friday

It reopened with a 'Marks of Genius' exhibition of books manuscripts and artefacts such as the Magna Carta and writings by Issac Newton which can be called works of genius

Professor Hawking said "I hope that thousands of people young and old will visit the exhibition and be inspired to develop ideas of their own, to experiment try out new ways of thinking and share their ideas with others

"Who knows perhaps the exhibition will stimulate the next Euclid, Newton or Dorothy Hodgkin to put down their ideas on paper or pixels and make new 'Marks of Genius'"

During their visit Sir David and Professor Hawking were given the university's Bodley Medal for their contributions to culture learning, science and communication

Sir David added "I am deeply honored to receive the Bodley Medal and to be opening the exhibition

"It shows the importance of libraries as places where knowledge is preserved and shared from one generation to the next."

The exhibition launched to the public on Saturday

The library formerly known as the New Bodleian now has a revamped entrance hall from Broad Street, exhibition space, a lecture theatre and cafe

It lies across the road from Oxford University's historic Bodleian Library – one of the oldest in Europe

Richard Ovenden the Bodleian's librarian said "This project has been an amazing opportunity to transform an unloved library building at the heart of Oxford and to support the needs of Oxford University long into the future

"In a city full of libraries it is one of the most significant and exciting library transformations for many years."

The 'Marks of Genius' exhibition runs until September 20

Mike Rowley council ward member for Barton said "The council wants to get Barton residents involved in shaping the identity of the extension in their estate and linking new Barton in the old

"It's great that many local people have already given suggestions for street names so keep them coming."

Council leader Bob Price added "We hope current residents will be involved in shaping its future identity

"Ideas for names could be a theme for a cluster of streets or an individual name and we ask people tell us their reason and if there is a connection to existing or historic Barton."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames, has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director James Miller feels that it's all about service. Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up, we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window. In any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which is why it is very sad for the service industry as a whole.

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and James is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. The truths that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a high amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.

So if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

New trains proposed as franchise deal is signed

• A First Great Western train at Oxford Station

FIRST Great Western will continue to operate trains through Oxfordshire and south west England until April 2019, after agreeing a four year extension to its franchise.

The deal, which will see FGW pay £68million to government, was announced on Monday.

As part of the announcement FGW has revealed plans for a fleet of brand new trains on the network, faster journey times and 4 000 more seats into London every day during morning rush hour.

By Adam Flinn

adam.flinn@nqnewspapers.co.uk

More than £30million will also be spent improving stations across southern England to create 2 000 more car parking spaces.

First Group chief executive Tim O'Toole said: "We are delighted to be awarded the contract by the Department for Transport to operate the Great Western franchise until at least April 2019.

"Under our experienced management the franchise will see new or refurbished trains on every part of the network resulting in more frequent and faster journeys and an increase in the number of seats.

"These and a range of further passenger benefits will keep people moving and communities prospering across the Great Western network."

A total of 58 electric trains will be introduced on Thames Valley services while 369 new carriages will also be brought in.

Journey times between London and Cardiff – on the same line as Didcot – will be reduced by 14 minutes.

Transport secretary Patrick McLoughlin said: "I am determined that passengers in the west Thames Valley and south Wales get a railway that is fit for the 21st century.

"This is a fantastic deal which will give them more seats, more services and brand new fleets of modern trains.

"The railways are a vital part of our long term economic plan – with over £38billion being spent on the network between 2014 and 2019."

Sports stars honoured

WEST Oxfordshire paid tribute to its talented sports performers and clubs with an awards ceremony at Witney Lakes Resort last Thursday.

Forty-five athletes and coaches received awards at the ceremony which is held annually by West Oxfordshire District Council.

The winners got a funding grant of between £50 and £250, and free membership to council-owned leisure facilities across the district.

Diana Shelton, the council's head of leisure, said: "From county through to world-class there is a fantastic depth of talent in West Oxfordshire in a wide variety of sports.

"As well as supporting these talented individuals, the awards recognise all the clubs and volunteers who create opportunities for people to get involved in sports.

One of the winners was Debra Courtenay-Crane, a coach at Carterton Gymnastics Club who volunteers for more than 14 hours a week.

She said: "I am very grateful to everyone that supports the club and who gives their time voluntarily to help.

"To see the impact it can have on our members' lives is amazing – we have seen children's schoolwork start to improve as their confidence is built – and it is very rewarding."

Club assault

OXFORD: A 19-year-old man has been arrested after a woman was punched, slapped and kicked in the head at the Bridge nightclub in Hythe Bridge Street on March 14.

Just after 12.30am the woman threw a drink in the man's face, before he assaulted her.

Police want to speak to the victim, who did not report the incident to them.

The man has been released on bail until April 10.

Smelly water

ABINGDON: A burst water main in Culham led to more than 50 Abingdon residents reporting a strange smell from their tap water last Wednesday.

Thames Valley have said: Residents in and around Mill Street complained of the smell, prompting Thames Water to deliver 22 500 bottles of water to the town.

On Thursday the company said a burst water main in Culham may have led to pipe lining mixing with the supply.

David Reynolds, water quality manager at Thames Water, said: "We're sorry to customers who were alarmed at the changes to their tap water.

"Customers with tap water that appears and smells normal can be certain it is absolutely fine to drink."

The water supply was repaired over the weekend.

County's residents dazzled by the eclipse

CLOUDS cleared just in time for thousands across Oxfordshire to admire the solar eclipse on Friday morning.

The Moon crafted a mystical picture as it blocked 88 per cent of the Sun casting the county into darkness at 9.30am.

Hundreds of people crowded onto Abingdon's Abbey Meadow where Abingdon Astronomical Society hosted a stargazing event with telescopes for people to view the Moon cross the Sun's path.

Radley mum Helen Eccleston took four year old daughter Ruth to see her first eclipse.

She said: "It means a lot to come here with lots of other people because it gives a sense of the scale of what is going on.

"It's a really special moment to see it with the children as well."

Jo Haggas from Abingdon found it sparked the interests of four year old daughters Gracie and Lola.

She said: "It's really exciting. The children are suddenly into space so to have the opportunity to see something real is good."

Residents were warned not to stare at the sun and risk permanently damaging their eyesight and given protective glasses.

Chairman of Abingdon Astronomical Society Ian Smith said: "It's been really good, people have been quite amazed.

"They have been looking through the telescope – my favourite was one woman who looked through and went 'oh wow', she wasn't quite expecting what she had seen."

He added: "It is a partial eclipse when the moon goes between the Earth and the Sun and the shadow of the Moon touches on the surface of the Earth.

"Because the shadow's very small you have to be in a very small area to see a total eclipse, but you can see a partial eclipse over a much wider area and that's what we've seen today.

"In Abingdon we got about 88 per cent coverage of the sun by the moon."

Oxford resident Richard Rees saw the spectacle from the garden of The Kings Arms pub in Sandford-on-Thames.

The 29 year-old said: "It was looking doubtful that we would see anything for a while – it was so cloudy – but it cleared up just in time."

He added: "It was interesting and strange to see everything go dark – it felt like dusk again."

Homes decision made after two year battle

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A CONTROVERSIAL development of 158 homes off Drayton Road in Abingdon was given the green light by Vale of White Horse District Council last Wednesday

The council's planning committee voted seven to five with one abstention to grant approval to developers Taylor Wimpey's plans for the site

It comes after a two-year battle to try and stop the development with residents and councillors citing an increase in traffic on an already congested road as the biggest problem

Neil Fawcett county councillor for South Abingdon said "I'm very disappointed with the decision

"I still think there are very clear and strong problems with the development particularly around the traffic and local residents will again be astounded that a local council has again supported it."

Last year the county council approved moving the pedestrian crossing on nearby Marcham Road and installing new traffic lights on Ock Street near the double mini roundabout in a bid to alleviate traffic

The move had been put forward by the government's planning inspector when he overturned the Vale's initial refusal of the development in 2013

It also meant that the Vale could not refuse the application on grounds of increased traffic this time, as in the eyes of the planning inspector this would be rectified

Cllr Fawcett added. "I made the point that if the developers are as confident as they claim to be that changes to the crossings will solve the problem they should put them in place and see whether they work

"If they work then the development can go ahead, but surprisingly they weren't up for that."

Sandy Lovatt vice-chairman of the Vale's planning committee said "The committee felt they really had nowhere to go but approving it

"I personally voted against it and that's mainly because I still dispute the remedy of putting in two pedestrian crossings would reduce the severity of the traffic problem this development would generate

"The sooner we can get the local plan in place so we can actually have a claim to have found a five year supply of housing land the better."

A statement from Taylor Wimpey said "We are delighted with the council's decision to approve our application and we very much look forward to beginning work on the site as soon as possible

They refused to confirm an exact date as to when work would start on site

Cherwell District Council North Oxfordshire

Conference discusses tackling FGM problem

A MULTI AGENCY conference into how to tackle female genital mutilation (FGM) was held in Oxford last Thursday

Thames Valley Police and the Oxford Safeguarding Children Board (OSCB) took part in the day long conference led by the Department of Health at The Oxford Hotel in Wolvercote

Delegates from across the country spoke about FGM an illegal practice of removing or damaging the female genitalia for supposed cultural or religious reasons and what could be done to prevent it taking place

It is punishable by up to 14 years in prison and in May the law is set to change to extend the protection for girls and women living in the UK

And police and the OSCB revealed their strategy for dealing with FGM in Oxfordshire

They are looking to extend the offence of FGM to include acts which occur outside the UK to a girl who lives in this country and ensure anonymity for victims in a similar style to sexual abuse victims

Also discussed was creating

By Adam Flinn
adam.g.taylornewspapers.co.uk

an offence of failing to protect a girl from FGM

Detective chief inspector Katy Barrow-Grint said "FGM is child abuse and it is my priority to protect young female babies and children from being subjected to this horrible crime

"Thames Valley Police, police and crime commissioner Anthony Stansfeld and partners in social care and health are working together to protect children at risk.

"We will act robustly but sensitively where information is passed to us that shows a child is at risk."

Around 66 000 girls and women in England and Wales have undergone FGM with a further 20 000 girls under the age of 15 thought to be at risk.

While there is evidence of it taking place in the UK most victims are taken abroad.

Anyone who has concerns about the welfare of a girl or woman is asked to call police on 101

"It is premature to talk of achievements and legacies but I am delighted to have been part of a very exciting, dynamic and successful time in Oxford's long and illustrious history"

Lord Chris Patten chancellor of Oxford University said "Andy has shared his departure plans with me, and I know he will continue to serve Oxford for his remaining period in office with the same energy and commitment

THE crew tasked with defending Oxford's title in this year's Boat Race came face to face with their Cambridge rivals on dry land last Thursday.

The men's and women's university rowing teams were announced in London ahead of the varsity clash on April 11.

Oxford president Constantine Louloudis will lead the men's squad in search of his fourth victory in the competition.

And he is confident of taking the win. "It is a privilege to lead such a strong and committed squad.

"My aim is to bow out with a win in my fourth Boat Race and my job from the stroke seat is to lead the rhythm that will take us down the course."

By Adam Flinn
adam.flinn@jpress.co.uk

He played his part in the winning team in 2011, 2013 and 2014 but was absent during 2012's defeat.

The Dark Blues weighed in an average of 5.25kg lighter than Cambridge, and are also 5cm shorter and have one less returning rower.

In the women's race, Oxford will be hoping for their seventh victory in eight years, led by women's president Anastasia Chitty.

Cambridge have a slight weight advantage but Oxford hold the height advantage going into next month's race.

Anastasia said: "It's an honour to be president of such an impressive team, especially in this historic year.

"This will be my third Boat Race, but this year I've moved out of the stern into the bows where I will demand more of myself technically than I've ever done before."

The women's race starts at 4.50pm, followed by the men's event at 5.50pm in London.

Benefits of the final budget

LAST week the Chancellor unveiled the final budget ahead of May's general election and I sat in the House of Commons to hear him announce that the UK is now the fastest growing major economy.

We've always said that until the economy began to recover only small steps on important measures like lowering taxes and help first time buyers on to the housing ladder could be taken but now we are the fastest growing major economy and can deliver changes that make a difference.

I'm proud that employment has fallen by 62 per cent in my constituency since 2010 and over thousands of new businesses have started up.

Many local residents will welcome the Chancellor's announcement that for every £200 people save towards their first home, the government will put in an extra £50.

Fuel duty will be frozen for the fifth consecutive year in a row – this not only helps families and commuters but also small businesses who need to be mobile to thrive.

And I know exactly how important a good broadband connection is to local people – we have areas of patchy service across my constituency.

What matters is that local people can start to feel the benefit of these policies.

Of course I know there is more to do to secure a better future for Oxford and Abingdon, but I'm delighted that local people are feeling the benefit.

We need to finish the job we have started.

Peter French

ONE of Britain's smoothest singers will be bringing back the greats at Cornerstone Arts Centre in Didcot on Saturday

Peter French will perform songs made famous by the likes of Frank Sinatra, Judy Garland, Nat King Cole and Doris Day for his show 'A Little Touch of Schmilsson in the Night'.

"It may be a cliche but I actually do love every song I sing as I sing it," Peter told the Guardian.

"I choose very carefully what I sing.

"A song's narrative and melody must speak to me or touch me in some way so that I can then make it my own.

"Once I have find that, it's easy to then love singing the song."

The musician, who was born and raised in Dundee, arrives at the Station Road venue for his first visit.

The 55 year-old added: "This will be my first time at Cornerstone and hopefully the first of many appearances.

"I am very much looking forward to performing this show there."

Peter's show is named after a famous album released by Harry Nilsson in 1973, who himself covered songs from a mix of the best 50s and 60s singers.

"I have a lot of respect for Harry Nilsson," Peter said.

"The music business is a tough business to be in and sometimes under studio contracts artists can lose themselves and their own vision.

"Harry managed to stick true to his vision and even though his projects may not have always been commercial successes he still stayed true to his ideas and inspiration.

"He also lived his life to the full and given his difficult early years I admire that."

After deciding he wanted to be a singer, the musician moved south to study at The Rose Bruford College of Speech and Drama in London where he performed in productions in the capital and all over the UK while working as a model alongside.

'A Little Touch of Schmilsson in the Night' which is touring the UK, was put together with his musical director Michael Heslam.

Tickets for the show, which starts at 8pm, cost from £13.50 to £15. Go to cornerstone arts.org.uk to book.

The Ugly Duckling

HANS Christian Andersen's classic fable will be brought to life when The Ugly Duckling arrives at the Corcerstone Arts Centre in Didcot on Sunday March 29

By James Richings
jamesr@tplcmessengerpapers.co.uk

First published on November 11, 1843, the story sees a duckling born into the world which looks different to all the ducks around him.

After being bullied by many different animals in his short life, the duckling chooses to throw himself into a flock of swans, deciding that it is better to be killed by such beautiful birds than to live a life of misery.

The duckling is shocked when the swans welcome and accept him, before realising by looking at his reflection in the water that he has grown into a beautiful swan himself.

The production by The Thingumajig Theatre Company is suitable for over fives and starts at 2pm.

Artistic director Kathy Kim said: "We think the anti-bullying message is very important but the message is implicit in our piece, rather than overt.

"We don't like to hammer home a message too hard but aim to create a beautiful piece with haunting themes that will stay with people long after they leave the theatre and give them food for thought."

She added: "This is our own adaptation of the Ugly Duckling. We use some of the original language from the book, and stay pretty true to the story with a few little additions of our own."

• Puppets from Thingumajig Theatre Company's The Ugly Duckling

The famous story will be told at the Station Road theatre with puppets, two actors, narrators, puppeteers and musicians.

"We always use puppets in our work, and this piece seemed a natural choice," Kathy explained.

"We've been thinking about the show and the puppets for almost a year now but actually making them for about three months.

"We love it when families come to our shows and have a rich theatre experience, something to share and enjoy and talk about when they get home.

"If we can spark ideas and imagination, and a love of live performance in a young audience then we feel we've done our job."

Tickets cost between £6 and £8, or £24 for a family.

As sure as Tomorrow Will Follow Today

HUSBAND and wife team Kathryn Roberts and Sean Lakeman will bring folk tunes to The Theatre in Chipping Norton this Sunday, March 29

The couple, who were voted Best Duo in the 2014 BBC Radio 2 Folk Awards, will travel from Exeter to Durham with 'Tomorrow Will Follow Today'.

The show is named after their fourth studio album.

"The audience can expect a varied evening of contemporary British folk music," Sean told the Guardian.

"We will play some traditional songs, some self written songs and a few covers to hoot, so hopefully something for everyone."

Sean, the eldest brother of three Lakeman siblings who are also successful musicians (Sean and Seth), first met his future wife Kathryn Roberts in the early 1990s at the Sidmouth Folk Festival in Devon.

The pair began writing songs together before their debut album 'I' was released in 2001.

They have since recorded and released three studio albums, of which their 2012 third studio album 'Hidden People' netted strong support from critics.

But Kathryn admitted folk music is not going to take over the UK singles chart any time soon.

"In reality I don't think that's going to happen," she said.

"Sean experienced first-hand the 'crossover' effect of folk music you refer to with Seth.

"He played on 'Top Of the Pops', did all the major stages at the big festivals and was treated like a pop star.

"These things go in cycles, and if you are lucky enough to still have a career after that period of major success has faded, then you can count your blessings."

Tickets cost from £13 to £14 for the show at the Spring Street theatre.

The show starts at 7.45pm.

"This will be also our first time to the theatre," they added.

"Although we spent lots of time making an album in the town's old famous recording studio quite a few years back, we have very fond memories of that."

TRY ORIENTEERING AT SHOTOVER COUNTRY PARK
If you fancy a new outdoor activity to try at the family, why not give orienteering a go? The event is organised by Thames Valley Orienteering Club and is ideal for families and children. There will be several courses and plenty of help on hand for newcomers. There will be six courses to choose from, from 1km up to 5km, taking around 30-75 mins. A complete plus a speed string course for very young children, where they let you in at every stage to find fun characters. If you've never tried orienteering before, it can be a treasure hunt to find a series of checkpoints around your chosen course. They're marked by flags on the ground and you navigate each one with an electronic timing chip to record your progress and prove you've been to them. The challenge arises by there being no set route between the checkpoints and you have to choose your own way using a detailed orienteering map at the park. This is part of a series of four events around Oxford:
Saturday 14 February - Hill End
Saturday 14 March - Cutteslowe Park
Saturday 11 April - Shotover Country Park
Saturday 16 May - University Parks
It's great fun and the events are supported by Oxford City Council and Up and Running in Oxford, who have supplied some great prizes. Come along any time between 10.00am to 11.30am and don't forget your sense of adventure! The cost is £6 per family group, or £2 for solo-jokers.

Car manufacturer set to feature in a special exhibition at Milan Design Week next month

Mazda is heading for Milan

FROM April 14 to April 19 Mazda will return to the Italian fashion capital for the Milan Furniture Fair, also known as Milan Design Week for a special motoring themed exhibition.

At the glamorous annual event the Japanese manufacturer will host their own event Mazda Design The Car as Art an exhibition at the Mazda Design Space facility that is located in the heart of the city's fashion and design oriented Brera District

Alongside its two newest models the all new Mazda CX 3 small SUV and the latest version of the iconic Mazda MX-5 roadster the exhibition will feature some works from the company's own designers inspired by the KODO Soul of Motion design theme of Mazda cars

Experimenting beyond the automotive world with the artistic freedom KODO offers horizon expanding since it helps the designers refine their techniques and powers of expression

By James Richings

"KODO is about capturing dynamic energy just before the moment it is released," Mazda's European design director Kevin Rice said.

"We at Mazda are moved by a passion for unique design and beauty in all fields as we were inspired to see what extraordinary new creations are possible

"The atmosphere is ideal here You simply breathe in art and culture when you walk the streets of Brera as it is an experience of immense creative benefit when we go back to designing cars"

Established to celebrate convention challenging designers Mazda Design Space opened in February for Milan Fashion Week when the carmaker collaborated with Vogue Italia to promote two up-and-coming fashion labels

Italy's "COMEFORBREAKFAST and Japan's Yasutoshi Ezumi each presented their own interpretations of KODO at the Mazda venue alongside the all new MX-5

Upcoming events include a design workshop on March 31 organised together with Domus magazine

Aimed at a professional audience it will feature prominent architects and designers including Kevin Rice himself.

Besides hosting Mazda Design The Car as Art Mazda is also a main sponsor of the Brera Design District Fuorisalone 2015

The local edition of Milan Design Week covers a range of events during the Salone Internazionale del Mobile di Milano, the world's largest furniture fair

Mazda first took part in Milan Design Week in 2013

Didcot stay in the hunt

Play-off hopes kept alive with Clevedon win

By Matthew Bruce
news@informnewspapers.co.uk

DIDCOT Town remain in contention for a Southern League Division 1 South & West play off place after their comfortable 2-0 home win over Clevedon Town on Saturday

Jimmy Deabill put the Railwaymen in front in comical fashion on the half-hour mark, as Clevedon goalkeeper Kane Mannings saw his attempted clearance rebound back off the big striker and loop back into the net.

Mannings almost handed Didcot a second when he sliced into the path of leading goalscorer John Mills but the prolific marksman shot just off target of his mark.

Mills didn't have to wait long for his 44th goal of the season, however heading home James Organ's cross after the break to put the match beyond the visitors

It was a fourth win in five games for the Railwaymen who host second-bottom Bishops Cleeve on Saturday looking to continue their charge

And joint manager Ian Concannon has made it clear that nothing less than a win this weekend will leave him satisfied

"It's a game I feel we should win and that's not being arrogant," he said

They are where they are for a reason and we are where we are for a reason.

"We have something to play for and they also have something to play for so it should be a great game."

Despite Didcot's return to winning ways, they remain six points from the play-offs following victories for their promotion rivals

But Concannon said his side's focus remains on their own results, not on those of their competitors

"We're not thinking about other teams we just have to do our jobs," he said

"We can't get too wrapped up in what other teams around us are doing, but if teams above us drop points we need to be able to capitalise

"We just have to keep winning games, because that's all we can do."

He continued "If we win all our games between now and the end of the season and still fall short then it won't be for the want of trying."

Welsh aim to postpone relegation

LONDON Welsh's relegation from the Aviva Premiership could be confirmed this weekend – possibly before the Exiles have even kicked off against Bath on Sunday

If nearest rivals Newcastle Falcons beat fellow strugglers London Irish on Saturday it will make it mathematically impossible for Welsh to avoid a last-placed finish.

Welsh – winless so far this season – would need bonus point victories in all of their remaining matches to stand any chance of Premiership survival this season.

A first win of the season is the main priority of new head coach Rowland Phillips as he takes charge for the first time at home to Bath on Sunday afternoon

Phillips was appointed last week replacing Justin Burnell, who had led the Exiles to promotion last season

But his side have struggled this season, failing to avoid defeat in all of their 27 competitive matches so far

Upon his appointment as head coach, Phillips said "It's been a very tough season trying to play with a squad built on an uneven financial playing field."

Kick off is at 2.30pm at Oxford's Kassam Stadium.

City stunned by surprise Bradford Park Avenue loss

OXFORD City suffered a surprise 2-1 defeat at home to in-form Bradford Park Avenue in Conference North on Saturday

City had led early on thanks to Alejandro Adrian Santiago but Craig King and Richard Marshall goals gave the away side victory

Neither side threatened in the early exchanges but it was the hosts who edged in front after 12 minutes when the ball was nodded on to Santiago who turned smartly and struck home

The lead lasted just six minutes as King found himself in the right place to meet a rebound at point blank range after goalkeeper Salva de la Cruz pushed the ball into his path

Early in the second half the visitors completed their comeback with Marshall glancing in at the near post after City had failed to effectively clear their lines from a corner

City went in search of an equaliser but found all of their efforts thwarted

Marlon Jackson came closest for City launching an ambitious long distance effort onto the roof of the net

City would be allowed no clearer sight of goal as they found themselves stifled by an increasingly determined Bradford defence in the closing stages failing to carve out any clear openings for an equaliser

The defeat leaves City eighth five points from the final play off position ahead of Saturday's trip to seventh placed promotion rivals Hednesford Town

Welsh tame Dragons in friendly clash

LONDON Welsh narrowly edged out Pro 12 side Newport Gwent Dragons 20-24 in a friendly last Thursday

With neither side having a scheduled fixture last weekend a friendly was hastily arranged with the Aviva Premiership strugglers emerging on top thanks to late tries from Nathan Trevett and Bon Pienaar

Welsh started brightly and deservedly led after Will Robinson's chip was collected by James Lewis who offloaded for Chris Elder to race through.

Dragons responded with Scott Andrews going over in the corner but Welsh wore soon back in front when Daniel Browne forced his way over the line and Will Robinson converted.

The second half followed a similar pattern with the Dragons needing five minutes to restore parity as Cory Hill touched down beneath the posts giving Tom Pyrdhe an easy conversion.

The sides were level for just two minutes, with Korec Britton going over for Welsh after a well executed catch and drive from a lineout

A spell of Dragons dominance followed and they seized the lead with a converted try from James Benjamin before Rhys Buckley extended it with another catch and-drive move

Welsh rallied and hit back just three minutes later when Ben West broke through the Newport lines to set up Trovott's try

Tristan Roberts converted to level the scores and Welsh won it ten minutes from time when Pienaar was driven over

U'S BEATEN BY TEN-MAN SHREWSBURY

United's goal drought stretches to three games with defeat to the Shrews

By Matthew Bruce
news@taylornewspapers.co.uk

OXFORD United's Sky Bet League 2 relegation fears mounted as they sunk 2-0 to promotion chasing Shrewsbury Town, courtesy of two strikes from Shrews captain Liam Lawrence.

Lawrence struck the first blow just two minutes into the game from the penalty spot after a clumsy challenge from U's skipper Jake Wright on Cameron Gayle.

But the U's arguably had the better of the match thereafter crafting numerous missed opportunities to level the match.

Danny Hylton, Kemar Roofe and Alex MacDonald were all denied by in-form goalkeeper Jayson Leutwiler as the U's were left frustrated.

The hosts were reduced to 10 men midway through the second half when debutant Rhys Sharpe was shown a second yellow card for a reckless tackle on Roofe but United were unable to make their numerical advantage count.

And their afternoon got even worse late on as Lawrence's powerful 82nd minute free kick broke through the wall and past helpless keeper Ryan Clarke.

Oxford have now failed to find the net in their last three matches, leaving head coach Michael Appleton frustrated.

He told the club: "I think frustration was a big part of everyone's feelings after the game on Saturday.

"We just lacked a killer touch and we lacked being clinical.

"We have to find a way of scoring goals and we're certainly creating lots of opportunities but we're just coming a little bit unstuck at the minute."

United remain just six points above the relegation zone ahead of Saturday's vital home clash with fellow strugglers Carlisle United.

Midfielder Michael Collins told the club victory this weekend is essential to ease relegation concerns.

"Regardless of how we approach the game if we have to win it ugly then we're going to have to win it ugly," he said.

"It's a case of getting points on the board as fast as possible.

"We've dominated so many games this season and not taken the rewards from them.

"All we can do about it now is get our heads on Carlisle and we appreciate what a big game it is."
